

Adobe Stock

Find the perfect asset for your next creative project with Adobe Stock.

Adobe Stock offers over 60 million high-quality images, graphics, and videos, plus new templates, 3D assets, and our Premium collection — all built into Adobe Photoshop CC, Illustrator CC, Premiere Pro CC, and InDesign CC.

You can search and license Adobe Stock assets right inside your Adobe Creative Cloud apps. Start with watermarked images to see how things look — they'll be replaced with high-res versions the moment you license them, so your workflow remains uninterrupted.

Quickly find and license Adobe Stock assets.

Learn how to open and license an Adobe Stock asset in your Adobe Creative Cloud applications.

1. Open an Adobe Stock asset.

On the Adobe Stock website, find the photo, video, illustration, or vector you want to use. Mouse over the asset and click the download icon.

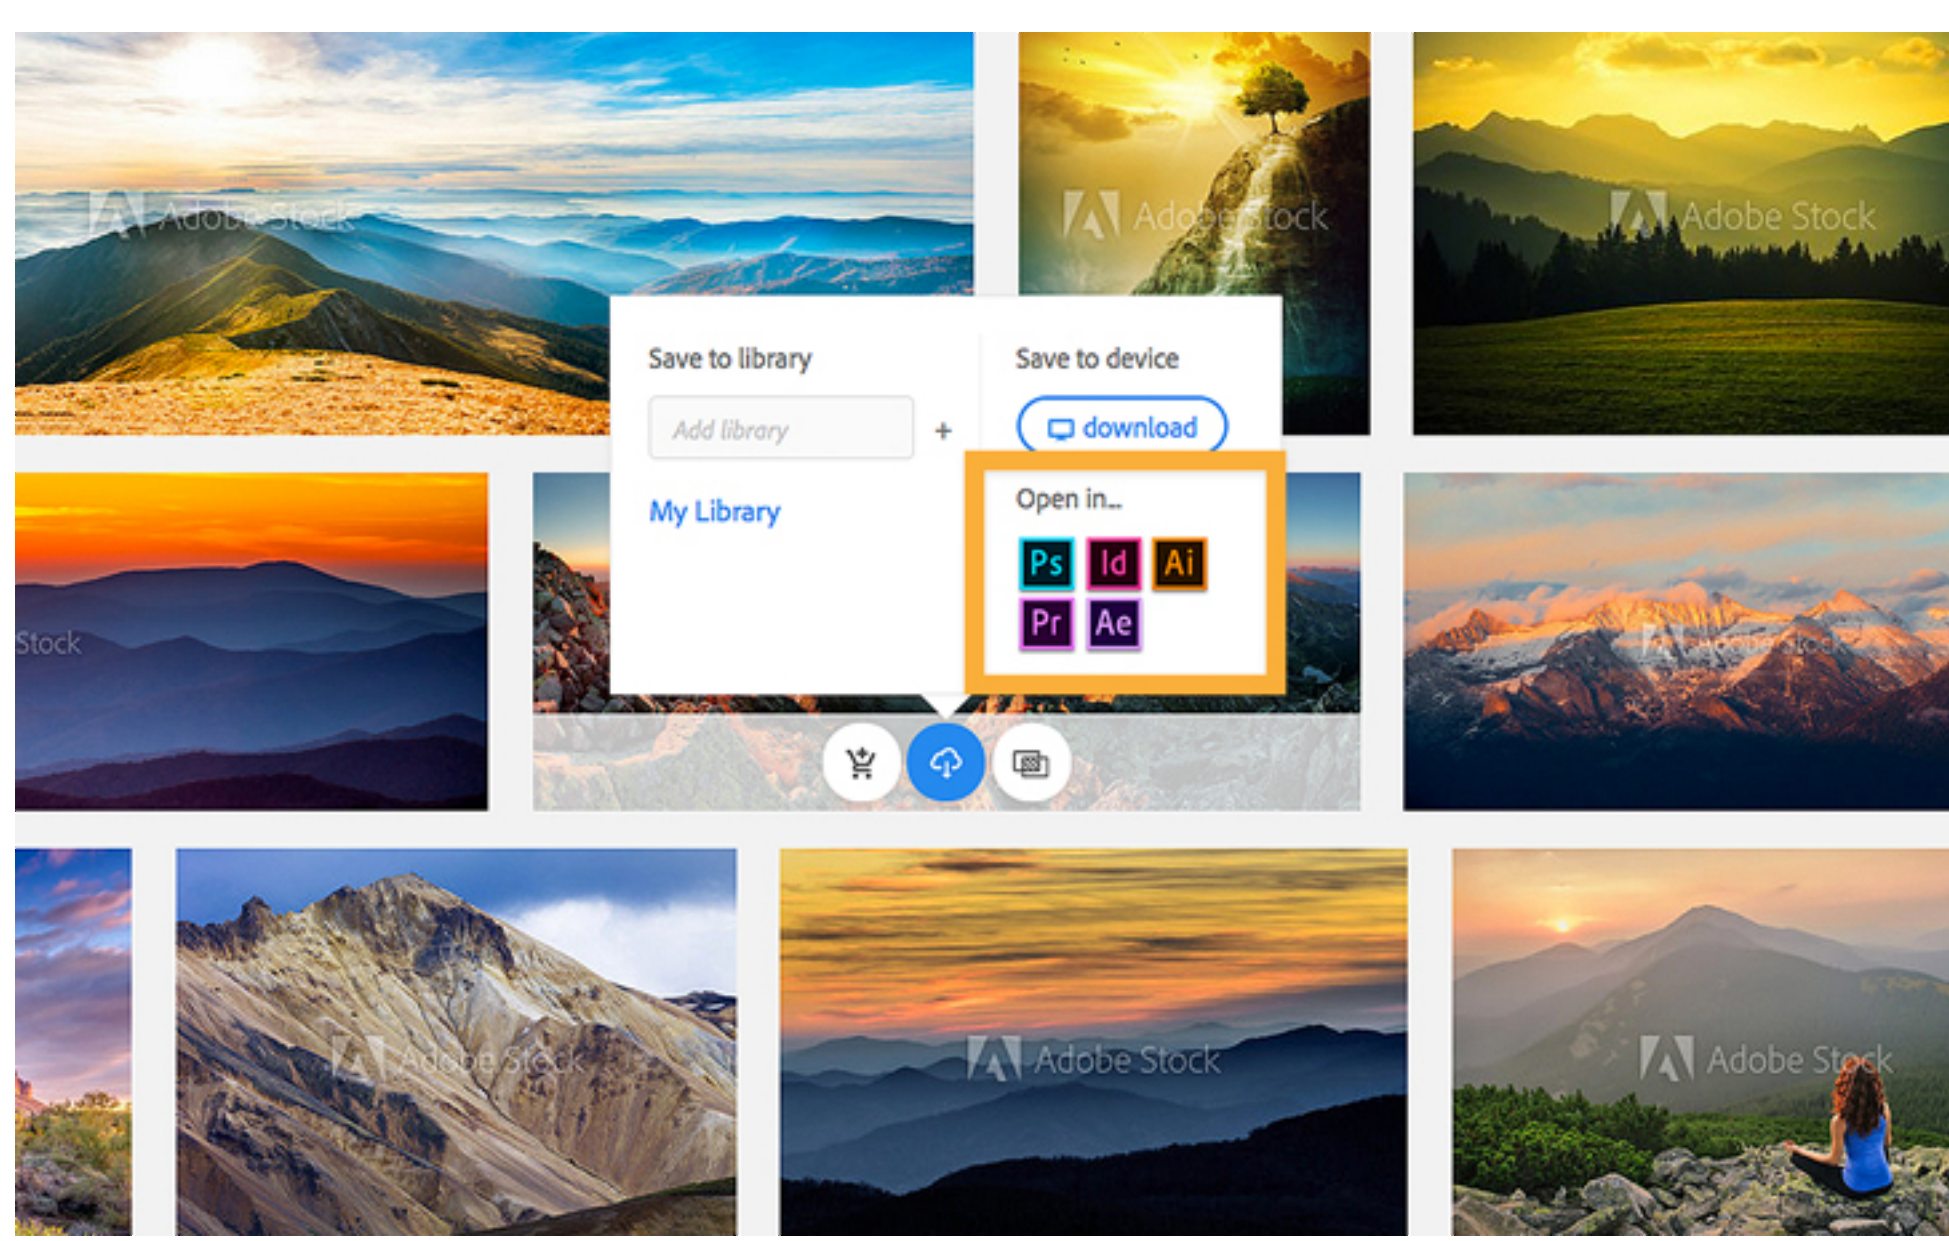

2. Select an application to open the Adobe Stock asset.

Make sure that you have logged in to Adobe Creative Cloud.

In the dialog box that pops up, under Open in..., select the Creative Cloud application to open the Adobe Stock asset, such as Photoshop or Illustrator.

Your selected application will then open a new document with a watermarked version of the Adobe Stock asset.

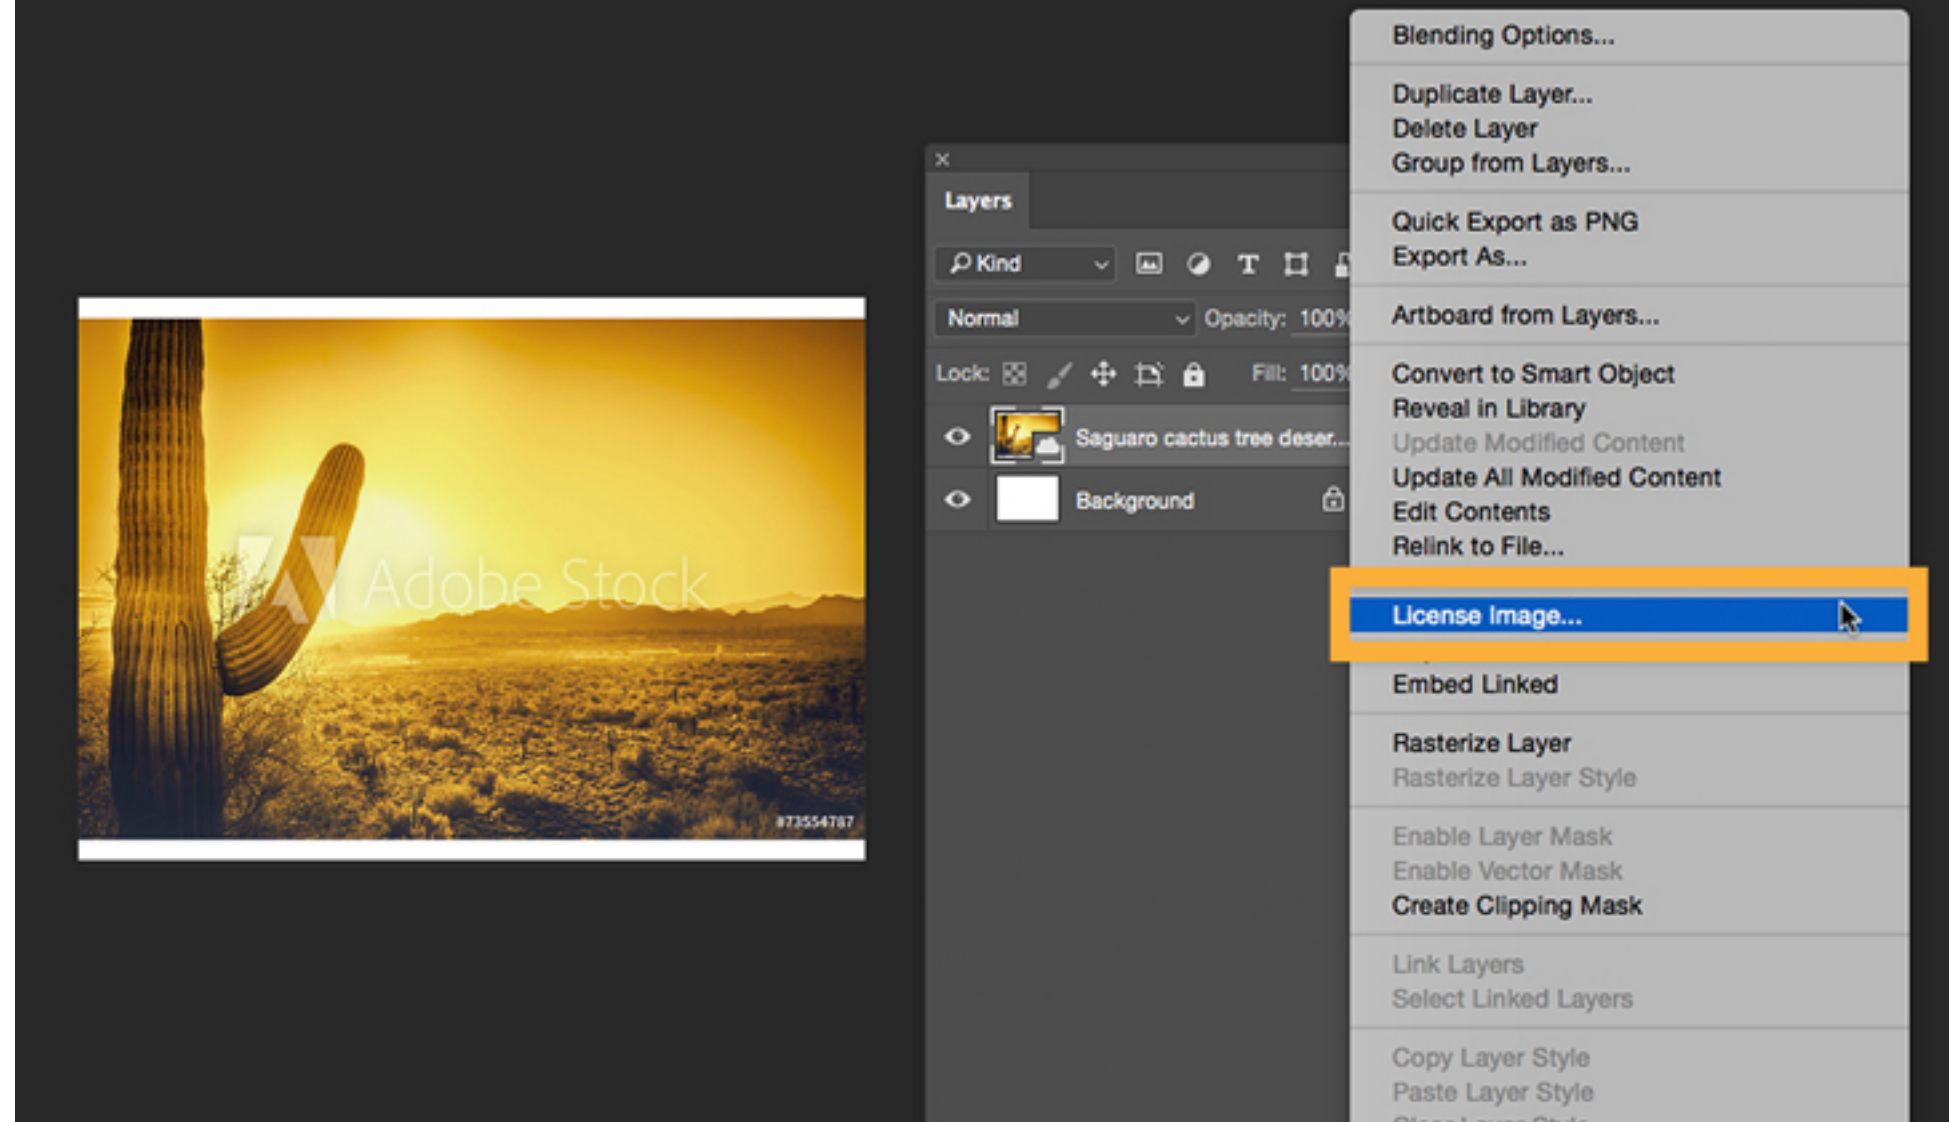

3. License the Adobe Stock asset.

To use a watermark-free version of the asset, you must first license it.

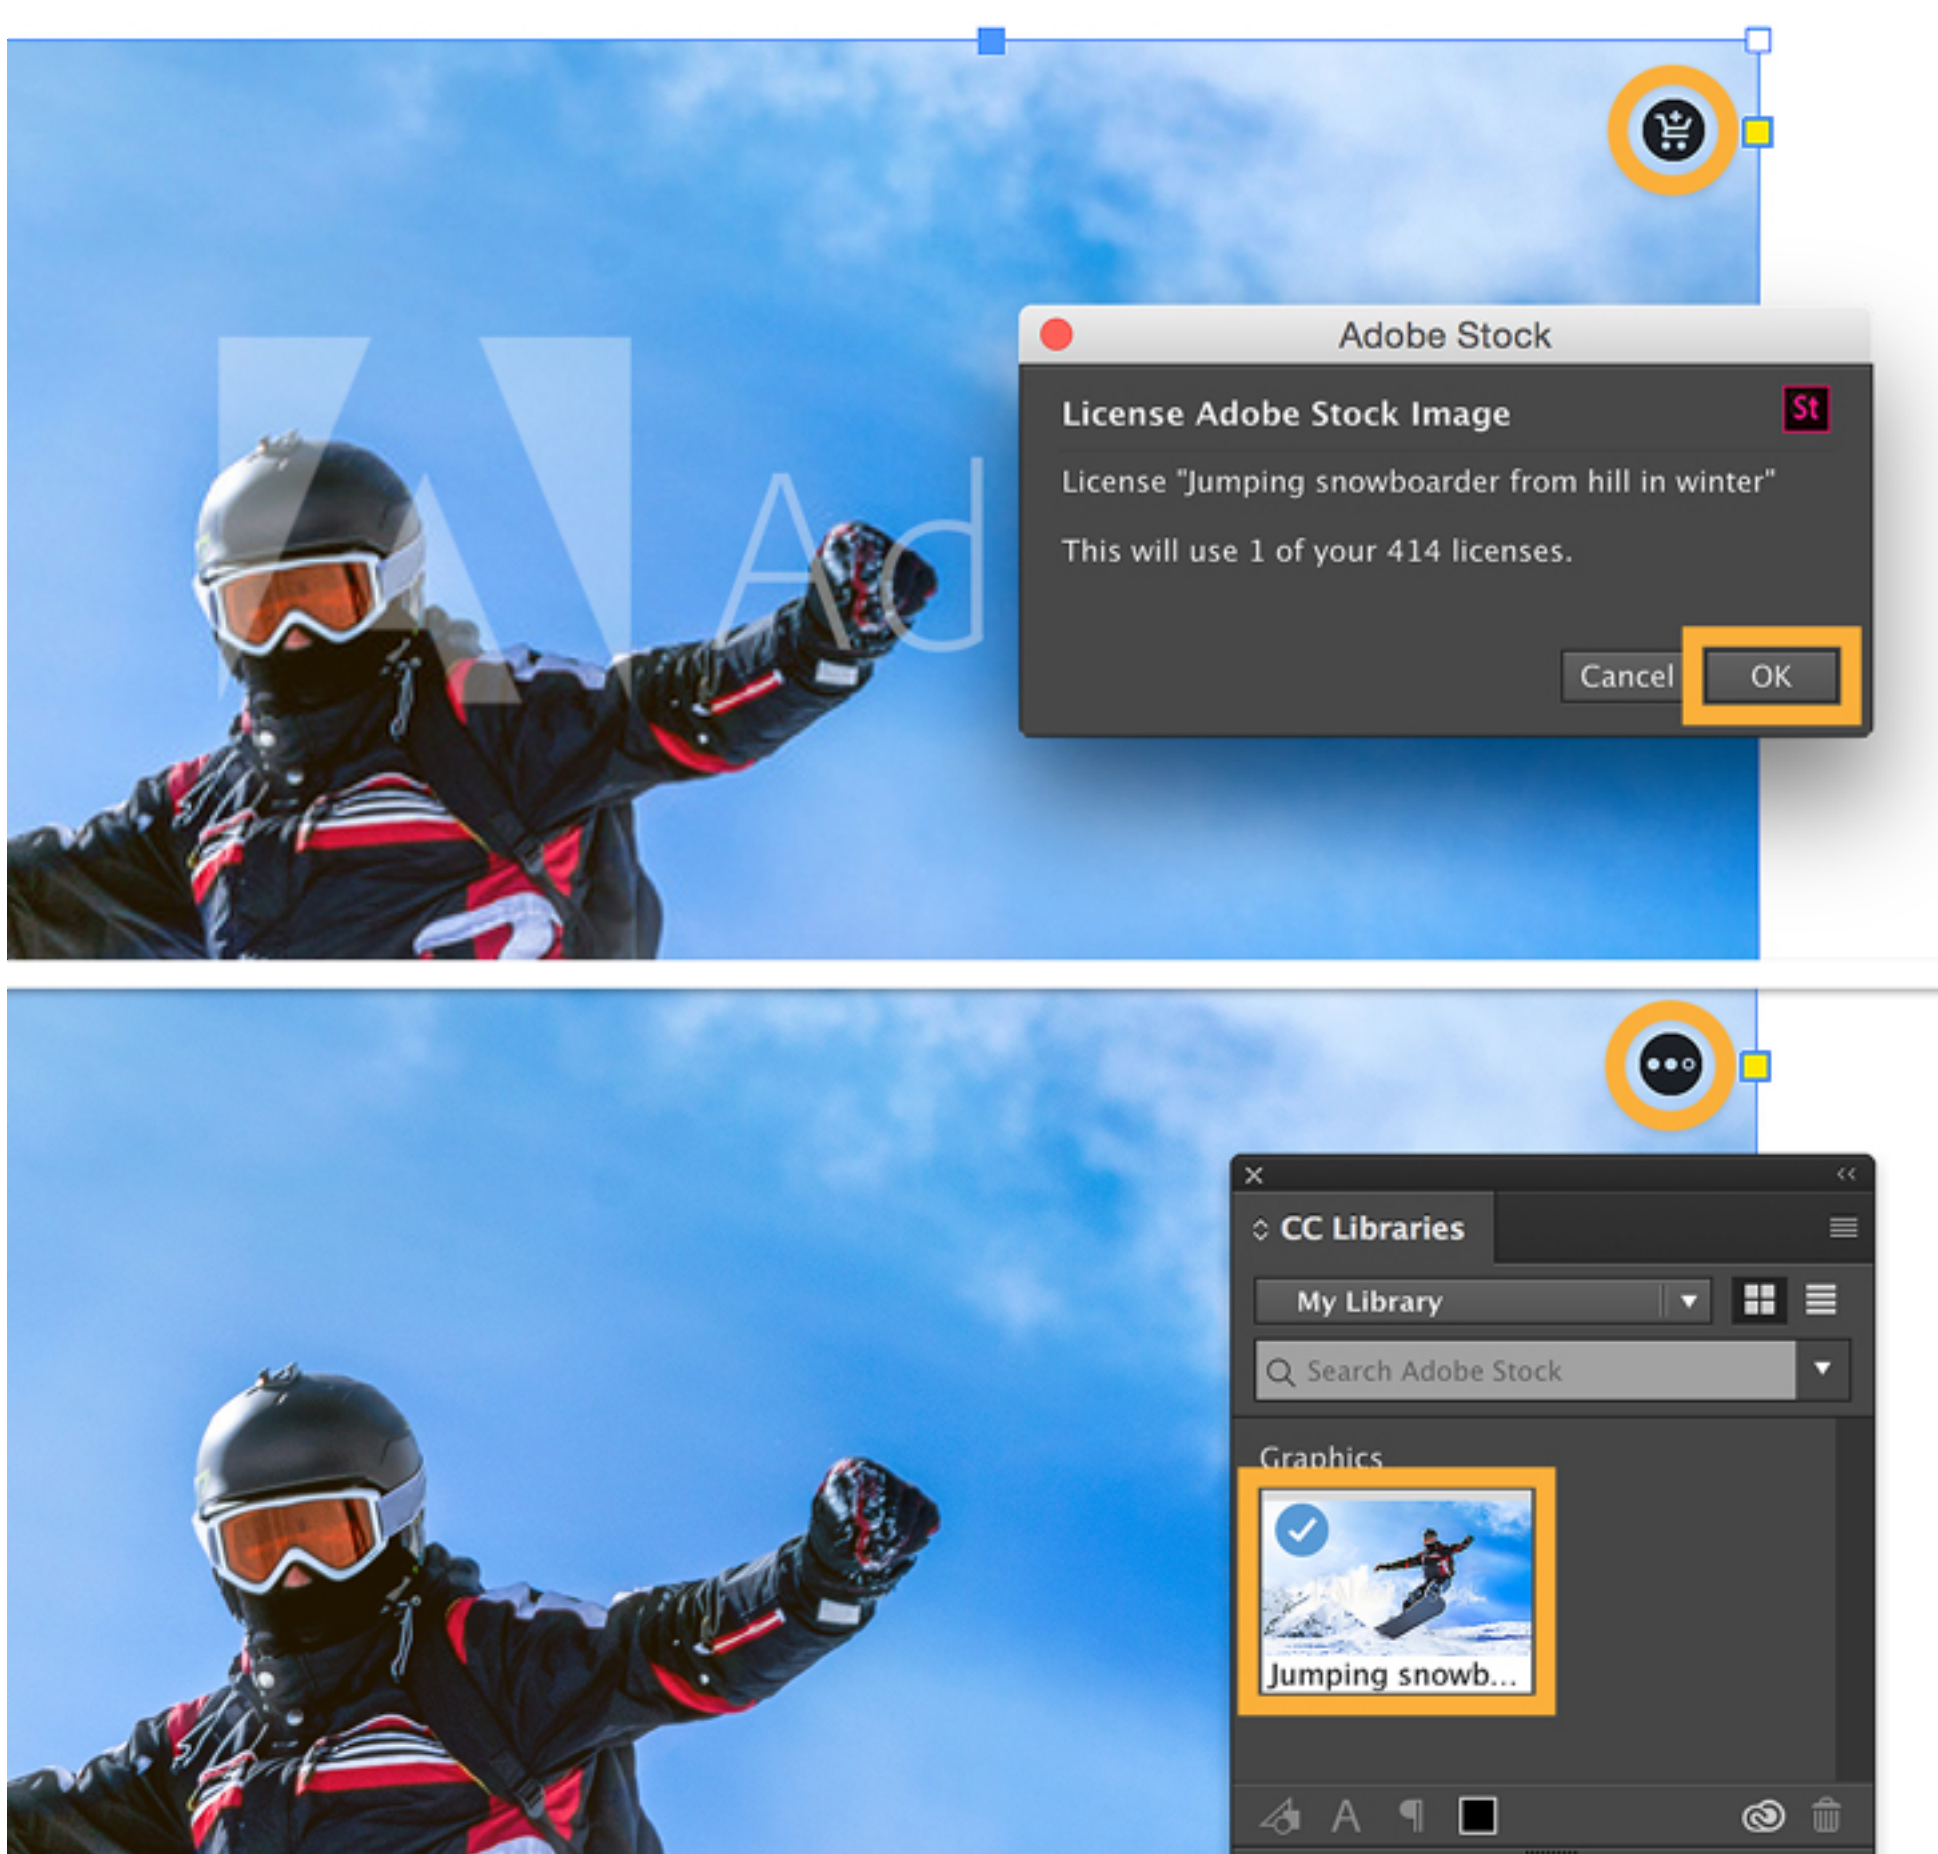

Option 1: License the Adobe Stock asset from Photoshop.

In Photoshop, you can license the asset from the Layers panel. Right-click the layer of the asset and select License Image. Then click OK. You will get a notice telling you how many licenses it uses.

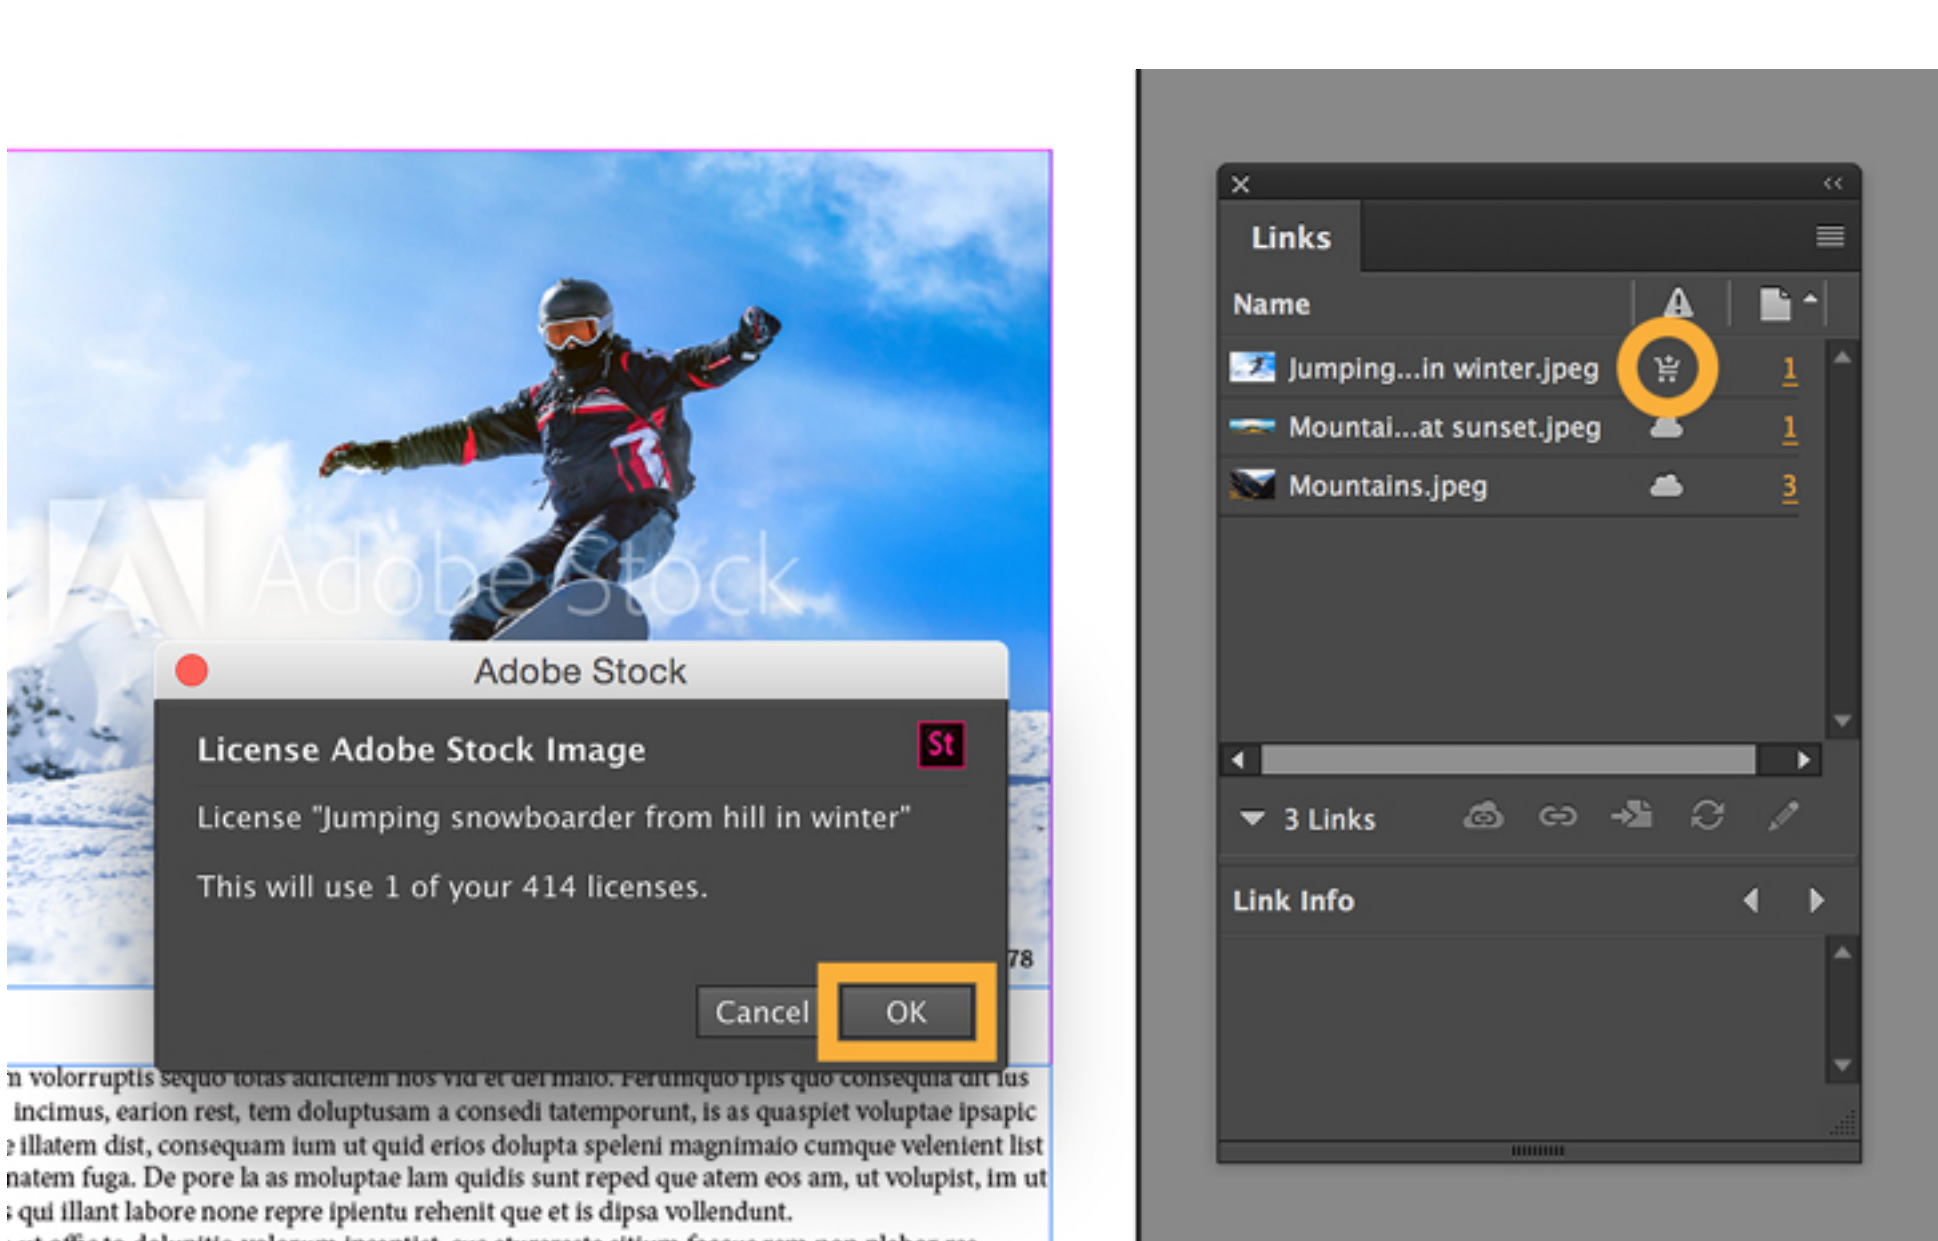

Option 2: License the Adobe Stock asset from InDesign.

To license the asset from the document, mouse over the Adobe Stock asset. Click the shopping cart icon. Then click OK. The Libraries panel opens to an icon with three dots showing that your asset is syncing.

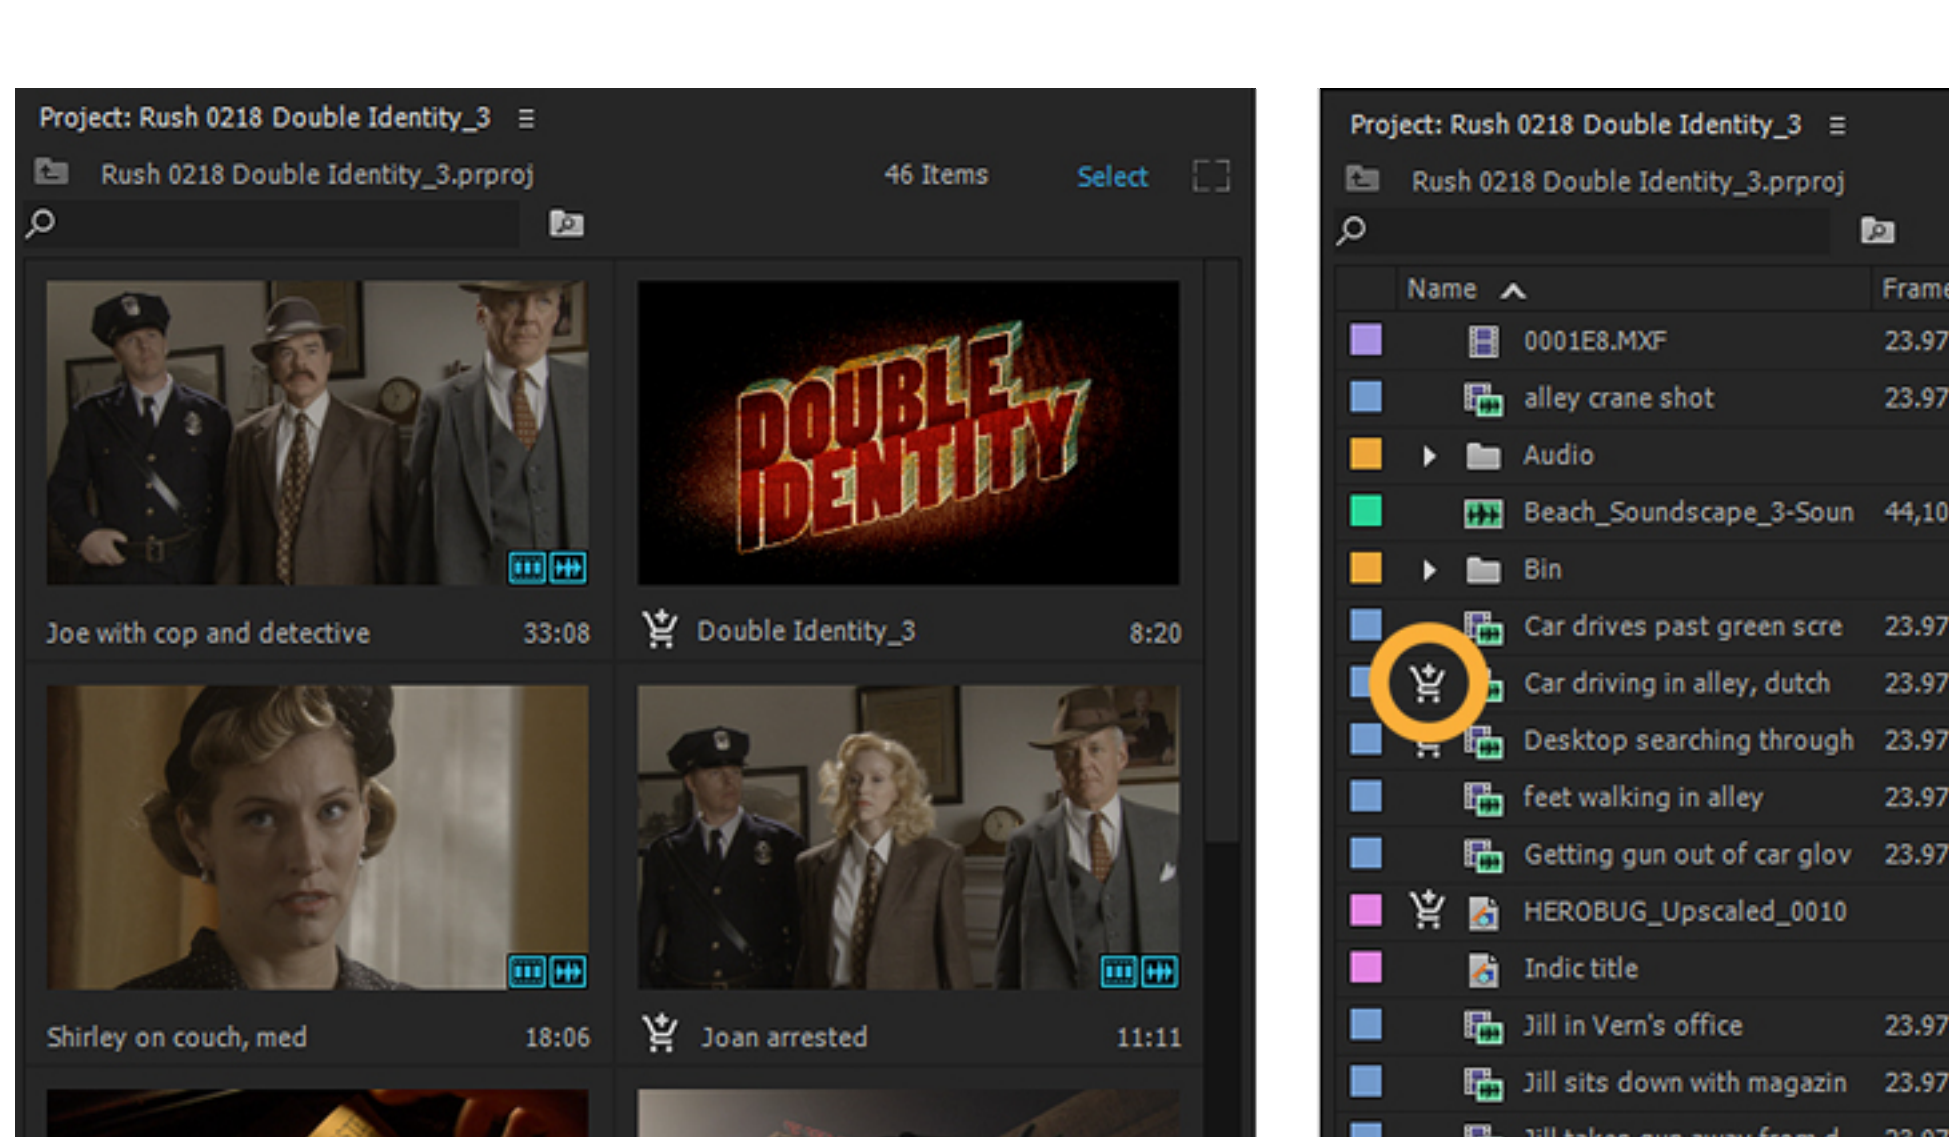

Option 3: License the Adobe Stock asset with InDesign and Illustrator from the Links Panel.

You can also license the asset from the Links panel. Open the Links panel and click the shopping cart icon next to the Asset you want to license. Click OK. An icon with three dots shows that your asset is syncing.

Option 4: License the Adobe Stock asset with Premiere Pro and After Effects from the Project panel.

In Premiere Pro (shown here) and After Effects, you can license the asset from the Project panel. Open the Project panel and click the shopping cart icon next to the clip you want to license. Click OK.
